Welcome to our 19th Introductory Course in Genetic Counseling in Oncology 2026

Dear Colleagues,

On behalf of the Scientific Committee, it is our great pleasure to invite you to participate in the forthcoming Introductory Course in Genetic Counseling in Oncology 2026. This event will be held at the Hotel Mirabeau in Lausanne on Friday, October 2, and Saturday, October 3, 2026.

This will be the 4th edition in French-speaking Switzerland. The first three editions were very well received by both participants and speakers. The course is held under the auspices of the CPTC network of Swiss Cancer Institute. It is intended for medical doctors from various subspecialties, nursing professionals, and other healthcare professionals involved in genetic counseling in oncology.

High-quality speakers will teach the basics and principles of genetic counseling for hereditary breast and ovarian cancer, as well as other cancer syndromes. You will hear from national and international experts on interpreting genetic variants and managing patients with a genetically determined increased risk of cancer. Additionally, you will learn how to navigate reimbursement demands.

We are especially honored to welcome Prof. Marc Tischkowitz, Professor of Medical Genetics and Honorary Consultant in the Department of Medical Genetics at Cambridge. He will share his experience and insights on cancer risk syndromes and how to use the CanRisk program for calculating lifetime breast/ovarian cancer risk.

The course is open to participants from all parts of the country, and the language of instruction is English. As the number of applicants is limited to provide the best possible teaching, we encourage you to register soon if you are interested.

We look forward to meeting you in Lausanne in October.

Sincerely,

Dr. Sheila Unger
